Excerpt: .looked upon the kneeling figure at his feet and, lifting up his eyes to the sky with a radiant smile, he cried: O Rama! O God! All Thou doest is the best. Whereupon the father of the sick boy grew impatient and said within himself: What is this! I come for consolation to this hermit who is known among the villagers as a great saint and he but answers my cry with this poor comfort that the Lord has done well to strike my loved one with illness, perhaps death. And thus in deep discontent he left the holy man who raised his hand in blessing to him murmuring all the while, O God! O Rama! Thou doest all things for the best. So the days passed and again the villager stood before the hermit, bent with grief and sorrow and said, O holy...
