Not illustrated. 1918 Excerpt: .world; is it not peculiarly fitting that we shall dedicate the eve of the greatest of Christian festivals, the anniversary of the birth of the Prince of Peace, to a nation-wide TRIBUTE TO THE ALLIES, our friends in peace, no less than in war, who have fought so long and so gallantly and who have suffered so heroically and so much in this supreme cause? There is particular need for such a Tribute at this time when men are apt to forget the long road over which we have gained our ends; when the authors of lying rumors and malicious whispers are on the watch to drive wedges between those who have fought together. At such a time it is our task to turn the public mind firmly toward the facts, resisting every attempt on the part of renewed enemy propagandists with our old question Where did you get your facts? and keeping warm our appreciation of the services and sacrifices of those who have been privileged to give so much more than we to the common cause. It is to this Tribute, then, that the Four Minute Men of America will dedicate their closing campaign, on December 24th, 1918. When it has been given and when the Christmas bells ring out at midnight, the war work of the Four Minute Men as official messengers from the Government to the people of the United States will have become a part of that history to which the...
