Excerpt from The 1919 Year Book of the United States Brewers Association: Containing the History of National Prohibition and the Anti-Saloon League, an Account of the Brewing Industry s Development, an Analysis of the Volstead Law and Its Effects, European Systems of Liquor Regulation, Significance of Recent Elections The Federal Prohibition Commissioner has issued, with the approval of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, a notice to the Federal Prohibition Directors and Supervising Agents, that no permit is required by a person manufacturing non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices exclusively for use in his home, and that in this connection the phrase non-intoxicating means non-intoxicating in fact and not necessarily less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol. This discrimination is a clear recognition of the impossibility of stopping home wine and cider making, which will inevitably lead to a laxity in other respects, and it is safe to predict that if the rigors of the Volstead act are not changed, the making of wine and other beverages will soon be a popular pastime in the homes of millions of our people.
