Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Veto Messages of Hon. Samuel W. Black, Governor of Nebraska, on the Bills to Prohibit Slavery: Passed at the Sessions of 1860 and 1861 If the owner of a slave carries his property to the border of a sovereign state, wherein slavery is forbidden, his right of property remains, but if he crosses the line, he becomes subject, in person and property, to whatever constitutional law the State has seen fit to establish. If he loses his property, it is because the local law takes it away. Slavery existed in Missouri during the entire period of her territorial existence, and there never was a statute law, either to establish or protect it. The citizens who settled there with slaves, and without slaves, as they saw fit, and their rights of property were never called in question. Have they who met in Convention at Chicago spoken the truth when they declare that the north territories is that of freedom, and we deny the authority.
