Yet the observation was held to be of importance, for, by enlisting that able astronomer anil Bradley, Sir J. Herschel considered that he gained some useful points in the orbital departure. As the rigorous observations and computations of this object must be deemed a sort of experimentum cruets of the sidereal connected systems, I may lie excused for entering into rather fuller details of the detection and establishment of so wonderful an elliptic motion, than I have yet indulged in among the binaries; and it will thereby serve as an example of the method of procedure with those interesting objects. The various observations were most ably and zealously discussed by Sir John, and treated in a straightforward, geometrical mode, so as to be widely available; as will be seen on consulting the Memoirs...
