Jackson and Brother, Iron Works: Descriptive Price List and Strength of Materials, With Partial Illustrations of Iron Work for Buildings; Compiled From 1871 to 1873 The knowledge of the strength of Cast Iron Columns was principally obtained from the experiments of mr. Eaton hodgkinson in the year 1840. These were very numerous, and, to a certain degree, comprehensive, having embraced over two hundred examples and their general test shows a degree of uniformity worthy of note; This knowledge in conjunction-with the investigations of euler, dr. Young and others, has led to the general adoption of a standard by all authors of works on engineering science, known as Hodgkinson s Rule for computing the breaking weight of Round Cast Iron Columns, either solid or hollow.
