Kansas City is the acknowledged great railroad center oi the West, making our railroad facilities for quick transportation for perishable goods one of the best. We are enabled to ship direct to all points without the risk of delay in transferring stock from one railroad to another. Sixth. The advantages of our nursery-grown shade or street trees over those obtained from the ferest. The transplanting of trees into nursery rows, together with the thorough cultivation they receive, causes them to form an abundance of root, making them more vigorous and healthy, and when transplanted by purchaser, they will make a strong growth from the start, thus enabling them to resist the hot rays of the summer sun.
