By Thelma Minard

Dog Ear Publishing, United States, 2010. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Patricia Minard (illustrator). 246 x 175 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Toad-in-the-hole? Bouncing Babies? Dutchman s Breeches? These are things to eat?!?! Thelma Minard thinks so as she takes the reader through a bit of history, geography, and human interest stories, telling of foods that are not described by their names. You will wonder about people remembered by foods named for them: Johnnie Pesuky, Sally Lunn, and Eric Jannsen. She tempts with sweets and savories that sound like items found in a clothing museum: turbans, shawls, breeches, buckles. You ll meet all manner of people - lumberjacks, captains, and hermits, as well as animals - porcupines, rabbits, monkeys, and, of course, pigs. This unique collection of recipes provides enjoyable reading while offering practical answers to the constant question of what s to eat? While the table of contents will pique one s interest, an extensive index will make it easy to find specific dishes. The original illustrations add clarity in some cases and whimsy in others. Thelma Minard learned to cook as a child at the side of her Alsatian grandmother. In the 1920s...
