Not illustrated. 1900 Excerpt: . opinion of the court: The plaintiff in error presents its contentions in many forms, but they are all reducible to one, to wit, that the statute of Missouri has been decided to supersede the terms of the policy, and to be the rule and measure of the rights and obligations of the parties, notwithstanding the application for the policy declares that the entire contract contained in the said policy and in this application, taken together, shall be construed and interpreted as a whole and in each of its parts and obligations, according to the laws of the state of New York, the place of the contract being expressly agreed to be the principal office of the said company, in the city of New York. What, then, is the meaning of the Missouri statute, or, rather, what meaning did the supreme court declare it to have? The court declared that the statute did not have the meaning the trial court decided it to have. In other words, it declared that the policy did not come within the exception of the statute providing for paid-up insurance, in lieu of temporary insurance, which was one of the contentions of the plaintiff in error, and on account of which it had tendered the sum of $2,670, and sustaining which the trial court rendered its judgment. With this part of the opinion, however, we have no concern. Our review is...
