Excerpt from Sketch of the Epidemic Religious Monomania Which Occurred in Sweden, in the Year 1841 and 1842 In the year 1374 came to Aachen (aixd-chapelle) from Germany, troops of men and women, who in churches and public squares, apparently involuntarily and unconscious of the presence of spectators, danced round hand-in-hand in a ring with frantic violence for hours together, until they sank down from exhaustion, complaining of great oppression and anxiety, and groaning as if about to give up the ghost, till somebody bandaged tightly their swollen bellies, when they came to their senses, and so remained until the next attack. People also sought to relieve this tympanitic distension of the abdomen, which accompanied the paroxysm of convulsive mania, by kneading with the hands, striking with the closed fists, or trampling with the feet. Although the affected neither saw nor heard anything going on around them while dancing, they yet had visions, in which spirits appeared to them, whose names they groaned or shouted out. Some in their lucid intervals, said that they seemed to be sinking into...
