

Brotherly Love (Paperback)

By MR Eddie Gubbins

Createspace, United States, 2013. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This is a story about fear, of somebody out of his depth in a world made strange to him by events he cannot fully comprehend. It is a novel about Ken Flood being pulled by family loyalties along paths of experience which would be best left unexplored. Ken Flood lives a quiet life with his wife, Doreen, and two daughters in Plymouth, working as a lecturer in the University. He minds his own business and is relatively happy with life. Until, that is, his brother Norman arrives unexpectedly one day asking for help. Norman works for the government or so Ken assumes. He only visits a few times a year usually to sail the yacht they jointly own. Ken's daughters, Pauline and Tracy are devoted to their uncle. Norman puts forward a proposition to Ken which will help him avoid those pursuing him. What his brother asks appears to Ken to verge on an attempt to pull him into the murky waters on the edges of crime. Ken has to decide quickly whether to help his brother out of brotherly love or let...
