The book is divided into four parts: * Part I discusses and critiques mental health theory in an exploration of contemporary debates.* Part II considers social inclusion as a goal for mental health services and reviews aspects of the services in which inequality continues to dominate.* Part III offers accounts of mental distress by service users, many of whom have used their experience to become teachers, researchers and innovators in mental health work.* Part IV considers some of the challenges faced by practitioners alongside professional responses to the major changes we are seeing in the landscape of mental health.This is an important and innovative collection of readings which has strong cross-disciplinary relevance and appeal.
