Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.2012 Synopsis Just One Sparrow, The Dance Between Nothingness and Somethingness: Understanding Life As Art By Rachel Corday, PhD Life is art. All things that are are works-in-progress. The process of art is motion. Motion is a three-step dance, one, two, three. Nothing that is is not the dance. The dance has no beginning and no end. Yet it is in motion from wave to crest, from rest to pulse to rest. The dance has heart, and is heart, and the heart of the dance is love. Love is not good and not not good. It is not right and is not not right. Love is the call of creation to come, and the call of that which creates to create. Nothing that is is anything but expression. It is the intaking breath. Expression is the pulse creating time and space. But there is nothing that stays, because nothing is. Space is created for time because time is the artist's material for life. Time is the instrument for the art of Life. Nothing that is, is. There is only nothingness. Somethingness is nothingness at the climax, the cresting wave. Somethingness is nothing in itself, it is only the sights of Life, and the sounds of Life. Somethingness is the structure of the form of nothingness. Nothingness is nothingness. This is Life, the art of form to create structure, and structure to give Life to form. The desire of Life to be is and cannot be but infinite passion. Life is not and cannot be anything but the full realization of beauty, truth, and the awakening of the divine heart of Life. All things are within the motion of Life, with...
