The committee, through his influence. Finally reported it to the Senate, which it passed with the aid of some personal friends of mine and Mr. Simpson, in its present mutilated condition. As soon as I knew that it had passed the Senate I immediately wrote to personal acquaintances, members of the House, asking their personal influence in its behalf, which they cheerfully gave; it is to these gentlemen, principal among whom were Mr. Granger, of Goldsboro, Mr. Sparrow, of Washington, Mr. Page, of Jones county, Mr. Smedes, of Raleigh and some lady friends of mine in Raleigh, that we owe its final passage through the House. Thus it was that our Association became a body corporate and the Pharmacy Act became the law of the State on March 12th, 1881, the day before the legislature adjourned, but did not go into effect until June 1st.
