CHEMICAL SIGNALS IN VERTEBRATES 4 ECOLOGY, EVOLUTION, AND COMPARATIVE BIOLOGY

Springer. Paperback. Condition: New. 754 pages. Dimensions: 10.0in. x 7.0in. x 1.7in. This volume reviews recent developments in our understanding of chemical signaling in vertebrates. After sections dealing with general principles and chemical aspects of vertebrate pheromones, it follows a taxonomic approach, progressing from fish to mammals. The editors asked a diverse, international group of leading investigators, working on a wide array of vertebrate taxa and specific issues, to consider their efforts from comparative, evolutionary, and ecological viewpoints. The relative number of manuscripts in each part does not necessarily reflect current intensity of research, since the editors invited speakers who together would provide a balanced and comprehensive overview, while avoiding duplication. Still, the part on mammals is the longest. Fourth in a series dating from 1977, this volume illuminates current trends and likely future developments in the field of chemical signaling in vertebrates. Going back even farther, the first chapter, a personal account of the past quarter century by Dr. Mykityowycz recalls the most important milestones, such as symposia, or the founding of societies and journals. He also credits those investigators who stand out by their seminal studies. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
