FBC LTD, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Latter-Day Saints Millennial Star, Vol. 73: February 23, 1911 The missionary methods Of the Church Of Jesus Christ Of Latter day Saints are open and above board. There is in them nothing to hide or cover up. The missionaries have a simple, gospel message to deliver that conforms in all respects both as to doctrine and organization, with the gospel as set forth in the New Testament Of the Bible. They sincerely believe that they are under a binding moral obligation to declare this message of truth and salvation to all nations; but the only avenues through which they can reach the people are by public hall meetings, street preaching, door to door tracting, and the press, when Opportunity Offers. Strict order and decorum characterize the Latter-day Saints hall meetings, and order is maintained at the street meetings so far as circumstances and the usual conditions of noise and confusion in the Open air will admit. The tracts treat gospel principles exclusively, and are handed to people at their homes in the spirit of courtesy and friendliness, and with a pure desire to do good.
