Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Cooperative Economic Insect Report, Vol. 10: August 5, 1960 Precipitation was generally light or absent from the Pacific States eastward to western portions of the Great Plains and into the upper Mississippi Valley. Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms over the Plateau and Rockies and portions of the northern Plains late in the week left moderate precipitation totals in extremely local areas, however. A large mound of cool dry polar air pushed southeastward from the northern Plains late in the week, dropping minimum temperature to near - record levels and weekly averages generally below normal in the Middle West. The coolest area, with respect to normal, was over the east central Great Plains where - 3 to -6 averages were general. Precipitation totals for the week from the eastern Great Plains to the Appalachians were light to moderate, with Scattered showers and thunderstorms depositing amounts up to 2 inches or more in widely scattered areas of the upper Great Lakes, central Great Plains and lower Mississippi Valley. Over much of the latter region and the Tennessee and lower Ohio Valleys only very light scattered showers were recorded and more rain is needed.
