Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Obedience to the Law: An Address at the Opening of Petigru College in Columbia, South Carolina; June 9, 1919 Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: - It is with great pleasure that I find myself again in Columbia, for I hold in very grateful remembrance the warm welcome that I received some sixteen years ago when I came here to address the Bar Association of South Carolina. What I said then was received more cordially by my auditors than it would have been in my native State of Massachusetts, though what I preached was the faith of the men who founded this great republic. What I say to-day should, in my judgment, be accepted wherever men are civilized, for it is the faith without which civilization cannot endure. I rejoice that the occasion which calls me here is the dedication of a new building for the teachers of law, for there never was a time in the history of the world when it was more important to teach the knowledge of and respect for the law...
