This writer gives a full account of the encounter upon the small island of Olney, between Edmund and Canute, in the sight of the two armies; and so does Henry of Huntingdon. They state that their spears were shattered to pieces against their fine armour; the fight was continued with swords: the people heard the dreadful clang and saw the flashing of their arms, and they shouted approval and encouragement, or groaned aloud in sympathy with the combats. At length Edmund Edmund demanded a single combat, in order to put a combat stop to the shedding of the people s...
