Sherman Asher Publishing, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 213 x 137 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Told from two full points of view, the central premise is a woman kidnaps a pregnant mother, murders her, and claims the child as her own. However, the authorities return the infant to her biological family, and prosecute the killer. The novel asks what would happen to such a child, and would there be any relationship between the child and the killer? Set in the late 60s, in New Jersey, a surreal lower east side of Manhattan, and a magic-imbued remote northern New Mexico. The first point of view is Rania's the kidnapped infant, now a teen-ager. Her school provides little, except for a friendship with the charismatic Monique. Her family's Armenian heritage hints at a dark historical past. Slowly, Rania uncovers the story of her birth. Egged on by Monique, she begins to want to search for her mother's killer. But Monique has problems of her own. Her father's flirtations towards her are progressing to something more sinister. Rebellious and longing for a bigger world Monique disappears after a peace rally. Rania goes in search of her aided by Michael, who despite Rania's coolness proves himself a worthy and a streetwise guide and boyfriend Rania enters Babylon as the novel shifts into magical realism in an old warehouse with mix of light shows, music, magic theater; a place of transformation. Here, Rania finds and loses Monique fueling the rest of her journey a solo quest to the desert and mountains of New Mexico to find the killer, Mary Rose. The second point of view is that of Mary Rose. An ordinary young woman from a rural town outside of Albuquerque, she is driven...
