By Malcolm Ferguson

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Rambles in Skye: With Sketch of a Trip to St. Kilda Monday, 29t/z. - Left Strome by steamer Lochiel about 3 p.m., half-an-hour behind advertised time. A pretty large number of passengers had come from the south by rail and joined the steamer, the large majority being farmers, cattle/ dealers, drovers, c., going to attend the Portree Cattle Market on the following day (tues, day, 30th May.) Our first place of call was at Plockton, where a considerable number of people joined the steamer, coming out a good long way in boats - there being no pier for the steamer. We next passed on our left the picturesque looking little village of Kyle Akin, with its prominent white lighthouse Shining brightly in the rays of the descending sun. The village stands on the Skye side.of the narrow strait or sound that divides. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
