Brand New Book  Print on Demand .A Book for Fathers about Fathers by Fathers What does a dad do when he s caught in a showdown with the teen trinity the sigh, the eye roll and the mutter? When he feels like a ghost at the dinner table or like a big lump in a pressure cooker of mashed potatoes? He has lunch with another dad and compares notes. When Bill Black and Tom Tozer met over greek salads at high noon on several occasions, they discovered they both were caught in the crossfire of the dreaded trinity and neither one had a clue. All they knew was that living with teenagers was frustrating, exasperating, even maddening. They pooled their ignorance and met with other fathers of teenagers. They held focus groups to find out how other dads handled those younger members of the family who occasionally stopped by the house for money and a meal. Collectively these kings of their castles uncovered three significant facts about fatherhood: (1) Dads don t readily share their feelings of confusion when it comes to parenting; (2) Dads don t have the resources or connections with other dads to provide them with opportunities to even consider sharing their feelings; and (3) Dads who are looking for ways to be better fathers value the thoughts and experiences of other dads who are just like them. Bill and Tom decided to pitch a weekly column to their local newspaper. It caught on quickly and today Dads2Dads appears in over 30 print and online publications across the country. Their new book, Dads2Dads: Tools for Raising Teenagers-We Survived and You Can Too (plus a few tirades) is an anthology of some...
