By Jen Craig

Spineless Wonders, Australia, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Panther the Museum of Fire is a novella about walking, memory and writing. The narrator walks from Glebe to a central Sydney cafe to return a manuscript by a recently-dead writer. While she walks, the reader enters the narrator s entire world: life with family and neighbours, narrow misses with cars, her singular friendships, dinner conversations and work. We learn of her adolescent desire for maturity and acceptance through a brush with religion, her anorexia, the exercise of that power when she was powerless in every other aspect of her life. It is not too much of a stretch to compare Jen Craig s work with the otherwise incomparable WG Sebald. DEBRA ADELAIDE . the reader is made aware at once that Craig is a writer of great skill. KERRY GOLDSWORTHY Jen Craig s short stories have appeared in various Australian literary magazines. She collaborated with composers of the chamber opera, A Dictionary of Maladies, in Switzerland in 2005. 5 stars Review The year 2015 is only in its early days, but already I know that Sydney writer Jen Craig s novella, Panthers...
