Excerpt from The Principles of Success Literature: Edited With Introduction and Notes The editors purpose in reprinting this admirable little treatise on literature is, primarily, to make it accessible to his own classes in rhetoric and literary criticism. It has been his custom, as it doubtless is that of many other teachers of rhetoric, to supplement the text-book by reference to various sources of information upon psychology, logic, language, and sthetics. Books on these topics, written by persons who know what they are writing about, neither too abstruse nor too much diluted with sentiment, are singularly few in number. Professor A. S. Cook did good service, therefore, to teachers and students alike, when, in 1885, he brought these Fortnightly articles again to general attention by reprinting them in pamphlet form. Hardly any other work on literature with which I am acquainted is so thoroughly sound in principle, and at the same time so suggestive and inspiring. Lewess essay has, too, what is noticeably lacking in many better known writings, a bracing, healthful tone. The customary sentimentalizing about the glories of literature is reduced...
