

Romancing the Real: Folklore and Ethnographic Representation in North Africa (Hardback)

By Sabra J. Webber

University of Pennsylvania Press, United States, 2017. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. One of the goals of the new or experimental ethnography is to illuminate the unique historical, social, and political situation of a people from their own multifaceted perspectives. As part of the effort to reach this goal, ethnographers are learning to listen in various keys to what members of society under study have to say about themselves and about their place in the world. In Romancing the Real, Sabra J. Webber argues that folklore-traditional aesthetic culture-is of central importance to the new ethnography. It is by becoming cultured in a people s traditional art forms that the ethnographer can come closest to an unmediated hearing of the individual voices of community members and to an understanding of how community affect is shaped and shared rhetorically. She contends that traditional verbal art does more than reflect a culture from its members points of view: it is one of the means by which members comment upon change and recreate their culture. It is also a powerful resource through which they respond to the ethnographer and what the ethnographer represents. Drawing on...
