Reviews

Undoubtedly, this is the best function by any writer. This really is for those who statte there was not a really worth reading. Its been written in an exceptionally basic way which is merely right after i finished reading through this book by which really transformed me, change the way i really believe.

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | The topics of this textbook are curves in differential geometry and they are primarily studied by means of parametrization. Particularly; curvilinear coordinates, plane curves and skew curves like; helices, involutes, evolutes, spherical indicatrix, circles and spheres of curvatures. It also introduces some quadratic surfaces, theory of contacts, curves-surfaces contacts relationships, envelopes, the geometry of curves in differential geometry in general. The main properties of these objects, which will be studied, are notions related to the shape; tangents, principle normals, binormals, tangent lines, normal planes, osculating planes, and rectifying planes. The fundamental investigated concepts are curvatures and torsion as the basic intrinsic property of a curve, independent of its isometric embedding in Euclidean space. One of the most important tools used to analyze a curve is the Serret-Frenet frame, a moving frame that provides a coordinate system at each point of the curve that is best adapted to the curve near that point. This text is supplied with sufficient illustrated figures, adequate number of examples, exercises, and problem solving to meet the quality standard. | Format: Paperback | Language/Sprache: english | 224 pp.
