Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 108 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.2in. Excerpt from War and Religion: A Sociological Study This prefatory word is to serve a double purpose. It aims to furnish a general background for this work; and further, to explain the unusual amount and length of quotations. The exposition of the background of this work involves the introduction of the personal element. The writer is an officiating minister. He was born and raised in the peaceful American atmosphere so wholly conducive to the idea that religion, above all else, must mean a reasoning relationship among men for the settlement of all difficulties. The isolation of the United States, the traditional American sentiment against entangling alliances, the genuine religious idealism pervading this land, conjured a picture of internationalism and universal arbitration that eliminated the lurid colors of warfare. The writer was not unmindful of the religious doctrine of the God of Battles. He was generally aware of the war gods of the old national poytheisms. But for the reasons given above, and for others of less importance, he felt that the prophetic vision of nations not learning war any more was most near of realization. Science had made religion adjust itself to this era of evolutionary thinking. Religion, thus newly oriented, could look for lofty ranges of spirituality from science. Religion and science seemed to have agreed that Gods in His Heaven - alls right with the world! made winters weary war-wastes but a passing phase to peaceful earths eternal spring. But war stalked across the land. Where was God When able, earnest men of God changed their peace themes of yesterday to war themes of today, the impossible seemed to have transpired. Of course man cannot speak in absolutes; but the zeal of...
