By R a Blanchard

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Burning for the Control of Aphids on Alfalfa in the Antelope Valley of California Some of the characteristics found to be of particular advantage in the construction of a field burner are the following: The burner should be drawn by a tractor with power take-off. The machine should be supported on a 4-wheel chassis with fairly short turning radius and with the rear axle placed at the front end of the hood in line with the nozzles of the burner gang. The dead weight of the machine should be kept as low as possible. Arrangements for a rapid means of refueling are essential. The use of fuel from the original container is feasible when quick detach able pipe connections are provided. Burners should be spaced to provide complete coverage. One row of burners is preferable.
