You are a high school student, and for some reason youre not inspired to do your best work. In fact, the only reason you even work as hard as you do may be due to a fear of punishment from authority figures. Youve noticed other students that seem to be focused, but you dont know how they do it. You have interests, but nothing that keeps your attention for long, or relates to a path where you will enjoy personal achievement one day. You may have talked with teachers, counselors, other students, and parents about your future, but nothing seems to click. What do you do Where do you go to find your path How do you find a path Is there even a path for everyone You may wonder, why cant you just pick something, and have it inspire you so that you enjoy learning Why do some seem to have it so easy Over half the students I work with are sitting high school just floating along until something, anything, catches their attention. Many take the default path and pick college, or the military thinking this experience will solve their dilemma. This isnt because they are bad kids, stupid, cant do the work, or dont care. These high school students want to be inspired to do great things and have a successful life, but dont know how. I, too, was a floater. With grades and SAT scores in hand, I would sit and watch the students that knew what they wanted to do and pick those paths with confidence. I knew early that a job wasnt going to be the ultimate living strategy unless I was able to use...
