The chances of matching the twenty numbers drawn in a keno game are 1 in 3, 535, 316, 142, 212, 180, 000. That is 1 in 3, 535, 316 trillion! The number in itself is hard to imagine. Keno is a type of lottery, and as such, it is ruled by the laws of probability. Lotteries are played in many countries around the world. Millions of people buy tickets on a regular or occasional basis in hopes of beating the odds when the chances are 1 in 3.5 quintillion. But how many of those dreamers have a real understanding of the mathematical principles ruling their chances? In the following pages you will find the basic information needed to clearly understand chance in terms of easy mathematical rules, and you will learn how to apply this knowledge to work out your chances of winning a prize in any lottery or lottery-like game of chance. This work is addressed not only to high school students with a passion for the mathematics of chance, but also to those who simply want to understand how lotteries work in terms of mathematics. It is not going to be an in-depth study of the subject, but rather an introduction to basic concepts and methods in probability, as well as how to apply them to the different types of lotteries. Youngsters are increasingly being persuaded to gamble through sport, lottery websites, online games and advertising. Understanding the risks of betting, and preventing the compulsion to gamble, begins with education. Education on wagering must start at the core of the matter: the knowledge of probability theory and the relevant mathematical rules applied to evaluate the chances of..
