Excerpt from Historical Society of New Mexico, Vol. 23: Addresses Delivered at the Ceremonies Incident to the Dedication of the Cross of the Martyrs, September 15, 1920 It is the story of those pioneers, their service to humanity, the gray-gowned monk and the courtly cavalier, their sacrifices and their martyrdom, which lend grandeur and solemnity to these monuments. Their deeds of valor and instances of Christian faith and fortitude find no parallel in the development of civilization in aboriginal America.
